

RAZ-KIDS

RAZ-KIDS: This is an optional on-line reading program.

Students may access Raz-Kids from home for reading practice. Go to www.raz-kids.com and click on the tab that says Log in. Type in the teacher user name nmchenrydirks and then click go. This will bring up a class roster. Your child should be able to locate and click on their name. Then child should type in his/her student password all lower case (see other side) and click go.

I demonstrated on the Promethean Board, but students will need reminding and assistance. Once your child has read all the books on the 'AA' level Raz-Kids will automatically move your child to the next level. Everyone starts at level 'AA', a very simple level; the next level is 'A'. At level 'A', and above, students will take a quiz on the story they listen to or read. Once all the quizzes are passed at A level, Raz-Kids will move the student to the next level.

I can check your child's progress from my computer and I will occasionally have students read a book from Raz-kids to me. If you do not have Internet access please let me know. Direct questions to nmchenrydirks@stfoa.org. Thanks for your patience as we begin this program.
